What materials do you use?

We use only the finest materials for our cabinets. All of our cabinets have solid wood doors and plywood cabinet box construction for high durability.

We use absolutely NO PARTICLE BOARD or other cheap fillers!!! Our cabinets are designed to last.

What are the benefits of an all-wood construction kitchen cabinet?

Our plywood cabinet boxes have greater dimensional stability, and high tensile strength for durability and endurance. And because our cabinets are more durable, it means that you are not going to need to replace them again and again, as you might if you bought lower quality cabinets.

What the competition offers:

Many cabinet manufacturers show a cheap price, but offer a product that is designed to rot out and need replaced again and again. Great business model for the manufacturer, but not much fun for the home owner. Their cabinets are made from particle board, HDF or MDF and will not last. These types of cabinets are more likely to break due to high weight loads and may exhibit the following characteristics:

- Swelling
- Sagging over time
- intolerance to humidity

Our all-wood kitchen cabinets feature:

3/4" thick solid wood doors with quality finish

3/4" thick solid wood drawer face with finish

All-wood drawer box

1/2" plywood with end panels

Solid wood face frames

1/2" plywood floors

Plywood toe kicks that match cabinet color

All metal, heavy duty concealed hinges

Heavy duty, epoxy coated metal drawer slides

Durable cam-locking system for stability and easy assembly

All slides are finished, inside and out

How are your kitchen cabinets different from brands like Kraftmaid, Thomasville and others from retailers like Home Depot and Lowes?

Price. The quality of our kitchen cabinets is comparable to their upgraded all-wood cabinets. However, almost all other manufactures charge an upgrade fee for all-wood construction. All-Wood construction kitchen cabinets are a standard with us. Our discount kitchen cabinets typically range between 45-60% below retail and competitor's quotes. Click here for a free quote.
